DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office Action acknowledges the applicant's amendment filed 26 May 2006. Claims 1-14 are pending in the application. The examiner acknowledges and appreciates the applicant's effort to advance the prosecution of the application by incorporating the material agreed upon in the interview of 1 May 2006. However, upon further consideration of the prior art, the examiner regrettably must alter the position previously taken. The rejections based upon this new position are presented below. Accordingly, this action is made NON-FINAL.

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

3. In light of the applicant's amendment, the rejection of claims 1-7 under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph is hereby withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 1-3, 5, 6, 8-10, 12, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Smicker (US 2,439,149) in view of Isidor et al (US 167,538; hereinafter Isidor) and MV Sport Cap Tee (previously provided).

Claims 1 and 5: Isidor discloses sock-type headwear A. Insofar as the headwear is made of a flaccid, plush material (Col 1, 4th paragraph), Isidor is inherently capable of the storage state, expanded state, and collapsed state claimed by the applicant.

Smicker discloses an article of clothing (Figure 1). Insofar as the clothing is made of a knitted material (Col. 2, lines 16-17), Smicker is inherently capable of being deformed into a cylindrical shape.

In examining the teachings of MV Sport Cap Tee, the examiner looks to MPEP § 2125. The origin of the drawing is immaterial. For instance, drawings in a design patent can anticipate or make obvious the claimed invention, as can drawings in utility patents. The drawings must be evaluated for what they reasonably disclose and suggest to one of ordinary skill in the art. In re Aslanian, 590 F.2d 911, 200 USPQ 500 (CCPA 1979). Accordingly, MV Sport Cap Tee teaches the provision of a shirt, rolled into a cylinder, with a collapsed hat wrapped around the cylinder and secured with a strap. One of ordinary skill in the art would have recognized that the arrangement of MV Sport Cap Tee would enable the presentation of multiple products to the consumer in a unitary package. It therefore would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the headwear of Isidor and the article of clothing of Smicker in the arrangement as taught by MV Sport Cap Tee in order to present the articles to the consumer in a unitary package.

Claims 8 and 12: Isidor-Smicker-MV Sport Cap Tee, as applied to claims 1 and 5 above, disclose the claimed structures in the claimed arrangement and therefore disclose the claimed packaging methods by presentation.

Claims 2 and 9: MV Sport Cap Tee discloses a strap (item wrapped around the headwear).

Claims 3, 6, 10, and 13: MV Sport Cap Tee discloses the headwear deformed into an arc shape.

5. Claims 4, 7, 11, and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Isidor-Smicker-MV Sport Cap Tee as applied to claims 1, 5, 8, and 12 above, and further in view of Kronenbeger (US 6,507,956; previously provided).

Isidor-Smicker-MV Sport Cap Tee discloses the claimed invention except for the headwear deformed into a cylinder. Kronenbeger (see Figure 6) teaches storage of headwear into a cylinder. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the system of Isidor-Smicker-MV Sport Cap Tee with the headwear deformed into a cylinder in order to reduce the diameter of the package. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955). A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. The examiner has altered the position taken in the interview of 1 May 2006; in order to give the applicant ample opportunity to respond to this new position, this action is made NON-FINAL.
